Tobin Named At Mayors Meet

Governor Reappoints Brown, Van Wagoner

MARQUETTE (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has announced the reappointment of two present members of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, currently under investigation by the attorney general.

He also named Claude Tobin of Escanaba as new Democratic member of the State Highway Commission.

Milliken added that Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's report on the bridge authority probe said "there has not been any violation of law or conflict of interest."

Renamed by the Republican governor for new six-year terms were former U.S. Sen. Prentiss

M. Brown of St. Ignace and former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner of Birmingham, both Democrats.

Rubin Probe

Milliken said he is asking the authority to meet with him to review results of the attorney general's investigation.

"The question of whether all authority employees have met required high standards is a matter to be determined by members of the authority, and this is a subject I want to discuss with them," he said.

Allegations had been made that Lawrence A. Rubin, authority executive secretary, had put in excessive expense accounts. Rubin denied this and said all his expense accounts had authority approval.

Brown and Van Wagoner had served on the authority since 1950. Their new terms expire June 30, 1974. Senate confirmation is required.

Tobin Selected

Milliken announced the appointments at Marquette, where he was for his latest in a series of meetings with city officials from throughout the state.

President Likes His New Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he likes his new office in the Executive Office Building next to the White House because people are less likely to barge in on him while he's working.

When he is using the presidential office in the White House, he told newsmen Wednesday, "naturally people feel they can come in and talk."

Herbert Hoover Jr. Dies Wednesday, 65

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Herbert Hoover Jr., who shared the politics and interests but never reached the political heights of his father, the 31st president of the United States, died Wednesday at the age of 65.

Huntington Community Hospital said Hoover had been hospitalized with an illness for a little more than one week. A spokesman declined to give the nature of the illness or cite the cause of death.

The younger Hoover was 25 years old when his father became president. Already married, the son busied himself in research and engineering positions at Harvard Business School, Western Air Express, and Transcontinental and Western Air during his father's four-year term in the White House.

His major specialty was in petroleum geology. From 1954 to 1957, he served as undersecretary of state in the Eisenhower administration after serving as a special consultant on petroleum to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Hoover, born in London, earned a bachelor's degree at Stanford, like his father, then went on to take a master's degree from Harvard.

He listed himself as a Republican but his hobbies and professional interests seemed to outstrip his political nature. He belonged to many professional engineering and petroleum societies and had been president in efforts to find problems of various areas and what the state can do to help.

Many mayors informed Milliken they were opposed to any measure calling for compulsory arbitration for municipal employees, particularly police and fire departments. Mayors from 14 UP cities attended the sessions.

There has been a great desire by UP residents to get a resident named to the highway commission, because of complaints the UP has received limited funds in recent years.

Tobin succeeds Richard VanderVeen of Grand Rapids on the highway commission for a term expiring June 30, 1973. VanderVeen's term expired July 1.

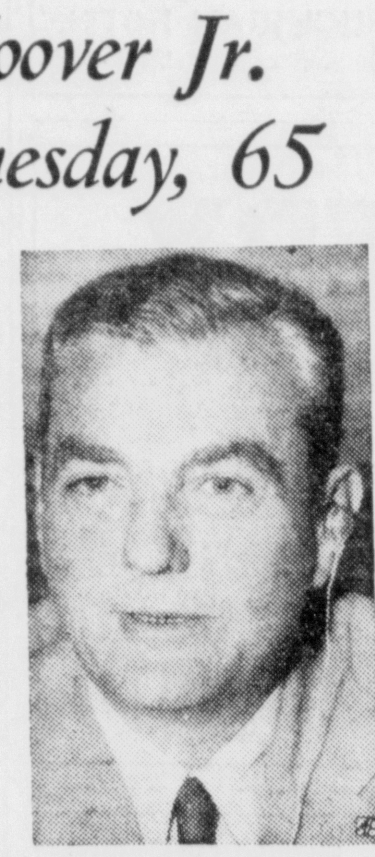

The four-member commission is bipartisan with the law requiring the appointment of two Republicans and two Democrats. Tobin, 56, is Escanaba branch manager for the Secretary of State's office and is a former State Highway Department employee.

U. P. Representation

"Richard VanderVeen has done an excellent job on the commission," Milliken said, "but I believe it is highly important at this time for the vast area of the Upper Peninsula to have representation on the highway commission."

"An accelerated effort by state government to stimulate the economy of the Upper Peninsula is in the interest of all of Michigan," the governor said. "Highway improvement must be a part of this effort. There are some urgent needs in the Upper Peninsula, and highway improvement is part of them."

Senate confirmation of this appointment also is required.

Herbert Hoover Jr.

of the International Radio Relay League and the International Amateur Radio Union.

His father, at the age of 80, watched as the younger Hoover was sworn in as undersecretary of state. And the son was asked why he had given up a successful business career for government work.

"I do not think of such service in terms of sacrifice," Hoover replied, "for the chance to serve one's country, at any time and in any way, is the greatest privilege that a man can have."

There was no press announcement of the death and newsmen learned of it from a paid classified in a newspaper.

Gov. Maddox Vows Fight On Segregation Warning

Cohodas Family Buys 1st National

Control of the First National Bank & Trust Co. of Escanaba, second largest bank in the Upper Peninsula, has passed from the Gessner interests into the Cohodas family, it was revealed today.

S. M. Cohodas of Ishpeming, representing his family, announced that the Gessner's have sold their stock to the Cohodas group. The change will take place immediately.

Harold Gessner is resigning as director, and S. M. Cohodas will replace him on the board and become chairman.

John L. Greene will remain as president and Arne J. Maki as vice president. Greene and Maki have been, and will remain, stockholders and directors in the bank. All other officers and employees of the bank will be retained in their present positions.

In addition," Cohodas said, "the same high standards, the same banking traditions endorsed by the Gessner family during their long years of association with Escanaba's First National Bank will be maintained."

In response to the last call from the Federal Controller of Banks, First National of Escanaba showed footings in excess of $25 million, second only to the First National Bank & Trust Co. of Marquette, where the Cohodas group has control, with S. M. Cohodas as President.

Letters Out

Letters have gone out to all shareholders of Escanaba First National, advising them of the purchase, and also extending to them an offer to purchase their shares at the same price received by the Gessner's. This is in keeping with banking regulations, protecting the interests of minority holding shareholders.

While the Cohodas name has not been actively associated with banking in Escanaba, they are no strangers to the community. The Cohodas Brothers

Co. has operated in the city since 1934, as Northwest Fruit Company, and has maintained banking relations with First National during all those years. S. M. Cohodas personally has been a stockholder with First National since 1936.

As spokesman for the new controlling group, he said, "In all our years in the Upper Peninsula, we have been impressed with the vitality and strength of Escanaba as a community, and as a growing center for the Upper Peninsula."

"To all of us who have been associated with Escanaba in a number of ways through the years, the city's future is bright, it can only continue to improve. We see growth and development ahead, with Escanaba, as one of the Peninsula's focal points of such expansion, and we want to do our share in helping provide some of the leadership and the participation in making these goals come into reality."

Helped Communities

Sam Cohodas has a richly merited reputation for helping build communities.

As President of the Miners' First National Bank, Ishpeming, which was organized after the national bank holiday of 1933, he has brought that institution to a 35 year level that is considered remarkable by his fellow bankers.

In 1960, he acquired control of First National Bank and Trust Co. of Marquette through stock purchased from the late Young Kaufman, and the bank has been growing by record margins ever since, and is sharply ahead of the field in the Upper Peninsula in its total resources.

In December, 1968, he acquired control of the Trenchy State Bank.

The Cohodas name, however, was well known throughout America before interest in banking developed. From tiny

10 Persons Die In House Fire

POSEN, Mich. (AP) — Ten persons died in a roaring farmhouse fire today outside this Polish, potato-growing community in northeastern Lower Michigan.

All who died were related. Seven were children ranging in age from 15 months to 16 years.

The total was the highest in recent Michigan history. Twice before since 1950, eight had died in two separate fires.

Of 12 who normally lived in the two-story home, only two survived. One escaped. Another was visiting in nearby Alpena.

Edward Gralewicz, 48, who escaped, said the fire broke out in a first-floor laundry room about 1:30 a.m. and spread with incredible speed. Fire Chief Ray Wosniak said it may have been caused by faulty wiring.

Dead are Anthony Gralewicz, 65, Edward's father; Mrs. Theresa Bonin, 39, Anthony's daughter; her husband, Wallace, 45, and seven of the Bonin's eight children: Victor, 16; Barbara Ann, 15; Kenneth, 13; Julie Ann, 11; Gregory, 8; Marcia, 5, and Robert, 15 months.

Edward Gralewicz told Presque Isle County sheriff's deputies that he came home from his job as a laborer at nearby Stoneport about midnight and went to bed.

At about 1:30 a.m., Edward said he was awakened by the family dog's barking outside and smelled smoke. He said he then went to the laundry room at the rear of the four bedroom, two-story frame house and that as he opened the door, fire and smoke billowed out, driving him back.

Edward said he shouted upstairs to warn the others, but that flames drove him out before he could effect any rescue.

Carol Bonin, 17, whose parents perished, was away visiting in Alpena.

AWOL Marine Good Actor

DETROIT (AP) — An AWOL Detroit Marine who claimed he was trying to find a home for his children turned out to be a better actor than anything else.

Pfc. Sammie Lee Jones, who convinced the American Red Cross, U.S. Rep. John Conyers, and local news media of his plight, admitted the story was not true.

Jones claimed he had gone AWOL after a ten-day emergency pass and a four-day extension so he could find a home for his two children, who, he said, had been deserted by their mother.

Jones said his wife disappeared after he sent her money to meet him in Florida for the funeral of his brother. He said he was trying to find a home for his two children, Sanvernette, 4, and Johnnie Lee, 3, who he didn't want to grow up in a poor home environment the way he did.

It was discovered later that Jones hasn't had custody of the two kids since 1967. They are living with their mother near Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Red Cross helped Jones arrange a four-day extension on his pass, and Conyers' office requested another extension and set to work to find a home for the two children.

A different story arose when Jones told people who had offered to help that his grandmother had agreed to take them.

The grandmother said she had not talked with Jones and that the children were already in Cincinnati.

Moon Letter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Apollo 11 will carry the first mail, as well as the first man, to the moon.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount said Wednesday the spacecraft will carry a special moon letter and an engraved master stamp die. Upon the astronauts' return, Blount said, the die will be used to produce a 10-cent air-mail stamp commemorating the first moon landing.

The letter will be hand-canceled by astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. Its postmark will read "Moon Landing U.S.A., July 20, 1969."

Sex Education Materials May Get Senate Study

LANSING (AP) — "Mother, I would so very much like to try to make a baby with Carolyn," said Peter (5 years old) to mother.

"Yes, but you can't do that yet you funny little boy," said Peter's mother, laughing. "Carolyn has no egg cells yet, and you have no sperm cells...you will have to wait until you grow up."

The official record of the Michigan Senate today contains that passage, read in by Sen. Gary Byker, R-Hudsonville, who joined several colleagues in revealing plans to enter a growing statewide controversy over sex education courses in Michigan elementary and secondary schools.

Byker said the quoted passage was included in a translation of a Swedish book for 5- to 8-year-old children. The book, he said, currently is included in a sex education bibliography published by the State Education Department for local school use.

Lot Of Rumors

Byker and Sen. Milton Zaagman, R-Grand Rapids, Wednesday introduced a resolution calling for a special committee study of sex education materials to be used in the state's public schools.

The proposal cites "a great amount of concern and aggravation among many parents about the sex education materials."

"There are a lot of rumors about what's in that bibliography," Zaagman said. "Let's find out once and for all if they do go beyond the bounds of good taste."

James O'Neil, a member of the State Education Board, charged that some bibliography materials would be considered "pornography" by some adults.

His contention, broadcast widely throughout the Legislature, was partly responsible for adoption of a resolution urging local schools to halt sex education courses—authorized by a 1968 act—until the state department provided some guidelines.

Approve Program

Proposed guidelines were presented to the state board earlier this week, as some 500 interested persons crowded the board meeting room, often interrupting proceedings and waving signs that said "Protect Our Children. No Sex Ed."

The Senate mandated even more guidelines Wednesday as it gave 32-0 approval to a House passed bill authorizing the Education Department to set up a "critical health problems" program.

Such a program—with guidelines to be established under department supervision—would offer information on such topics as drugs, narcotics, alcohol, tobacco and mental and dental health.

Senate Education Committee Chairman Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo, tied the guideline questions in a resolution asking for a special Senate committee study on the creation of the sex education and critical health problems programs.

Stamm said the special committee—"hopefully members of the Education Committee"—would "make sure the department implemented the intent of the Legislature."

News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposal to junk the 1965 Voting Rights Act in favor of his own broader measure appears doomed to fail its first congressional test.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major tank shortage may be developing because of the Army's preoccupation with the new, sophisticated and trouble-ridden Sheridan weapon system, says a House armed services investigating subcommittee.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nation's admirals, who have thundered for years about the growing Soviet naval challenge, are unusually restrained about a Russian squadron making a "show the flag" voyage to Cuba.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders have quietly approved a call for a far greater cutback in U. S. troop strength in Europe than now planned by the White House.

Ag Dept. Bans Some Pesticides

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord A. Nelson has charged the Department of Agriculture with sitting on a report condemning the general use of DDT.

Agriculture officials denied any such report exists, but did announce Wednesday the department had ordered a temporary halt in the use of nine persistent or long-lasting pesticides—including DDT—in government pest control programs.

The Wisconsin Democrat called on Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin to ban use of the toxic pesticide altogether.

Nelson said the department has kept the report quiet because "they haven't done anything about it."

Dr. G. W. Irving Jr., administrator of the USDA's agricultural research service, and Harry W. Hays, director of the pesticides regulation division, said no such recommendations have been made to Hardin.

"If there had been a report I would have known about it," Irving said.

Nelson acknowledged the report may not yet have reached Hardin's desk. But he added: "There is no doubt in my mind the report exists."

He contended the department's temporary halt to use of DDT in its own programs was a "ridiculous palliative" designed to assuage public opinion.

Nelson said Hardin set up a special intradepartmental committee to study the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council Report On Persistent Pesticides.

The USDA committee recommended a ban on aerial dusting with DDT and use of the pesticide in "aquatic areas"—near lakes, rivers and streams, he said.

Chicago Denies Charge; Faculty Is Given Choice

By The Associated Press

A new federal warning to the State of Georgia and the City of Chicago on school desegregation has drawn a sharp retort from Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, while Chicago school officials deny their faculties are segregated.

"As far as I'm concerned, they can take their ultimatum and ram it in their satchels if they want to," Maddox told an Atlanta news conference Wednesday. "Phooey on the whole crowd!"

In Chicago, the city's school board president, Frank M. Whiston, and Schools Supt. James F. Redmond said, in a joint statement, "We have never practiced segregation of faculty in Chicago, but we have permitted seniority of choice of schools by our teachers."

Face Lawsuits

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard warned Wednesday in Washington that the government would press lawsuits against Georgia and Chicago unless they move to end public school segregation.

It was the third day in a row that the Justice Department acted to end school segregation, and the 10th and 11th warnings issued in that time.

The Georgia warning, in a letter to the state superintendent of education, Jack P. Nix, demanded a "complete disestablishment" of dual schools for white and black pupils in the state's 194 school districts. Ninety-seven are now considered in compliance with federal guidelines on desegregation.

Nix said, "I don't think the state can set policy if desegregation means reorganization of schools. The state board doesn't have that authority."

Faculty Segregated

In the Chicago situation, the Justice Department letter to Whiston demanded complete faculty integration. Leonard said a department survey showed a third of the city's schools have all-white or all-black faculties.

Chicago has the nation's third largest public school system, behind New York and Los Angeles.

Thomas Murray, a school board vice president, said an Illinois law requires that teachers be assigned to the school of their choice in relation to their tenure.

A Negro school board member, Mrs. Carey B. Preston, said the teachers' union would have to work with the board to solve the problem.

Warren Bacon, another black school board member, said he welcomed the warning but added:

Not Broad Enough

"I do not think the action the federal government has taken is broad enough nor is it a significant counterbalance to the disgraceful relaxation of federal guidelines for the desegregation of Southern school districts."

Two Georgia civil rights leaders also were critical of the federal action.

"I am not too enthusiastic about the Justice Department trying to speed up desegregation in Georgia," said Sam Williams, second vice president of the Atlanta chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

John McCown, executive director of the Georgia Council on Human Relations, said, "We view it with mixed emotions. We don't know if this is a delaying tactic or whether it is possible. If it is, we'd like to see it done."

Game Fish And Alewives Abundant In Bay de Noc

BY BOB GREGG
Attention fishermen! Don't believe those stories about coho salmon eating all the perch or the alewife taking over areas where there were once large populations of game fish.

They just aren't true. "The decline in the perch population is strictly a cycle," said Bert Wagner, Great Lakes biologist for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Wagner said that recent studies have proven that coho salmon and alewife do not affect the populations of perch in Little Bay de Noc. He also stated that large populations of game fish in the Bay remain virtually untapped.

Wagner heads a crew of DNR biologists which has been studying fish populations and their feeding habits in Little Bay de Noc.

The study, now in its fifth year, is being carried out under the joint cooperation of federal and state agencies.

Fish Monitored

In the study, alewife populations have been monitored, coho movements tracked, and the feeding habits of predators and forage fish recorded. Predators include game fish such as northern pike, smallmouth bass, walleyes, burbot, and bowfin.

Forage, or feed, fish include prey for the predators. Alewives, perch, shiners, and smelt make up the forage fish population in Little Bay de Noc.

"We monitored heavy populations of alewife in 1967," Wagner said. "But during the past year we have noticed a steady decline in the amount of alewife captured in our test nets."

According to DNR statistics, alewife move into the bay in early June and leave by the end of July.

Elmer White, of Gladstone, one of the bay's most knowledgeable fishermen, said he believes the abundance of alewife during the summer months causes a definite decline in the amount of fish taken by area anglers.

Data Back Theory

"I've found that the better fishing in the bay comes during May, June, and September, when the alewives are further out in Lake Michigan," White said.

His theory is that when the alewife are in close to shore, predators, such as pike, bass, and walleye, have more than enough feed and therefore ignore offerings made by anglers.

Data compiled by DNR biologists support White's theory. Figures show that when the alewives are in they comprise a large percentage of the food game fish eat.

During summer months, the DNR has found that alewife comprise 66 percent of all food found in the stomachs of northern pike; 60 percent of BERT WAGNER, Great Lakes biologist, is shown holding a fine-mesh seine net used to collect plankton from Little Bay de Noc. the diet of smallmouth bass, 71 percent of the food for walleyes; and an amazing 100 percent of the burbot's eatings.

The same data for September and October is completely opposite. With the alewife virtually gone from the Bay, the large populations of predators once again must go on the hunt for adequate food. This makes them easier prey for anglers.

Growth Is Rapid

Wagner said that the fish in the Bay grow at a very rapid pace.

"The pike in Little Bay de Noc grow at a much faster rate than they do in other areas of the state," Wagner said. He added that the bass and walleyes are likewise fat and heavy-bodied.

"Walleyes in the Bay average out bigger than the pike," Wagner stated. "And there are a large number of walleyes in the Bay throughout the year."

In fact, Wagner finds it hard to understand why anglers don't catch more walleyes in the Bay.

"Maybe one of the big reasons more fish aren't caught in Little Bay de Noc is that there are never any fishermen out there," Wagner said.

Wagner said that test results have shown large concentrations of pike, bass, walleye, and brown trout, all along the edge of a deep shelf that runs along the Stonington Peninsula side of the Bay, about a mile offshore.

"The big fish seem to hang around the edge of this drop-off," Wagner said.

Shelf Visible

On a calm day the shelf is clearly visible. It shows as a "glassy" flat flowing through the riffles.

According to Wagner, there are some nice brown trout all along this area. "They average

Maniaci Hurt In Collision

Michael A. Maniaci, 19, son of Dr. and Mrs. George Maniaci, 1224 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone, was hospitalized in Escanaba Wednesday following an accident at 10:20 p. m. at the intersection of M-35 and County Rd. 420 on the Gladstone Bluff.

Maniaci was driving his motorcycle east on M-35 when he collided with a car driven by Gary R. Vincent, 18, Rte. 1, Gladstone, who was headed west on M-35 and was attempting to make a left turn onto County Rd. 420, Gladstone police reported.

According to officers, Maniaci was thrown from his motorcycle, receiving facial lacerations, leg and back injuries. Vincent escaped injury.

Gladstone police are continuing to investigate. No tickets were issued.

Nursery Group Elects Officers

The Escanaba Parent Cooperative Nursery has elected officers for the coming year.

They are: Mrs. Byron Zeni, chairman; Mrs. David Hintsala, vice chairman; Mrs. Thomas Neumann, secretary, and Mrs. Thomas Smith, treasurer.

The cooperative nursery is a non-profit group that meets in the Civic Center. Four-year-old children attend two mornings each week with mothers assisting a qualified teacher on a rotating basis. Mrs. Tom Hughson, who has a degree in education from Northern Michigan University, is the teacher.

Mothers gain an insight into child behavior by observing how other mothers and a professional teacher handle various situations, said Mrs. Zeni. The child is provided with a supervised learning experience with children his own age.

A child also is given the opportunity to learn to respect and accept the rights and also the differences of other children.

Art, music, books and creative projects geared to the children's age level are included in the nursery program.

Information regarding registration is available from Mrs. Hintsala, 786-4216.

Apollo 11 Begins Countdown

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The lengthy countdown begins tonight for Apollo 11's journey to the moon.

At 8 p. m., EDT, the launch team will feed electrical power to the giant Saturn 5 rocket, starting the countdown clock ticking toward a liftoff at 9:32 a.m. next Wednesday.

As crews completed systems checks on the 36-story-tall rocket-spaceship combination today, astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins planned a day-long workout in the command ship simulator, practicing the engine maneuver that shoots them out of earth orbit and sets them on a quarter-million-mile course to the moon.

They are to orbit the moon July 19, and the next day Armstrong and Aldrin are to fly a fragile lunar module (LM) to man's first landing on the lunar surface.

Early on July 21, first Armstrong, then Aldrin step outside for an exploration period scheduled to last about 2½ hours.

The countdown is 93 hours, but it is spread over 5½ days. This allows for several planned holds to give the crew rest and time to correct any problems that might arise.

Indian Lake Beach Closed By Pollution

MANISTIQUE — Pollution has forced the closing of the beach area to swimmers at Indian Lake State Park.

The water area from Harrison Beach south to the Indian Lake State Park showed a coliform index reading of 2,400 when tested last week, according to County Sanitarian Boyd Briggs. The testing was conducted by the Alger-Schoolcraft County Health Dept.

Park Manager Victor Haas said he decided to close the beach area when he learned of the coliform index report.

Signs have been posted along the waterfront area warning of the pollution danger.

The coliform index measures contamination content of the water from samples taken below the lake's surface. For comparison purposes, a reading of 500 is considered "a problem" and 1,000 "beyond tolerance."

Wind A Factor

The wind is a factor in determining a pollution location. Briggs said, and the day the samples were taken the wind was out of the northwest, contributing to the location of the heaviest pollution reading.

Other adjacent areas of water tested minimal pollution. The pollution undoubtedly is caused by the recent high water levels due to the heavy rains, which caused all septic tanks on Indian Lake to become inoperative, Briggs explained. The low areas become extremely flooded, the ground waters create a backwash suction as the water recedes, drawing the sewerage into the lake.

Haas said he is taking daily samples of water which are sent to the state laboratory at Powers for testing. To date, no results have been received since testing involves several days examination.

Visitors Leave

"As a result of the pollution, 21 new arrivals at the park on Wednesday didn't stay," Haas said this morning.

City recreation swimming programs have been cancelled and resort owners around the lake are reportedly very concerned about the adverse publicity the pollution will create during the height of the tourist season.

Briggs said he is "not overly concerned until further testing can be done." He added that testing bottles are available from the health department for those residents around the lake who wish to have their wells tested.

Tobin Pledges To 'Work Hard'

Claude J. Tobin of Escanaba, who was appointed to the State Highway Commission Wednesday in Marquette by Gov. William Milliken, said today that he will "work hard" as a commissioner for the interests of the Upper Peninsula and the State of Michigan.

"I'm honored to be appointed," he said, "and I'm proud to be the first person from the Upper Peninsula appointed."

Tobin joined Gov. Milliken in Marquette for the announcement, which came at a news conference following a meeting in which the governor conferred with some 20 mayors from Upper Peninsula communities over specific local problems.

His appointment is subject to confirmation by the Michigan Senate. Little difficulty is expected, however.

James McNeely, chairman of Michigan's Democratic party, expressed pleasure with the appointment, as did Rep. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique).

"I am extremely pleased that Claude J. Tobin has been named to the State Highway Commission," Varnum said. "We have been trying for many years to have representation from the U. P. on the commission and I'm very pleased that Gov. Milliken saw fit to make the appointment."

McNeely, who said that on his tour of the Upper Peninsula in May he "could see first hand the critical need for highway development," said he is confident that Tobin "will now be in the position to effectively advance in the interest of Upper Peninsula road development."

McNeely said he had recommended Tobin for the appointment.

Money Main Answer To School Inequities

By BARBARA JOHNSON
MARQUETTE — The difference between an adequate and sub-standard education program in the Upper Peninsula's public schools is one of money, the Governor's Commission on Educational Reform was told Tuesday during a hearing in Marquette.

Fiscal reform was urged by the 30-plus educators and private citizens who offered testimony to three of the Commission members, referred to as the "Blue Ribbon Committee," who conducted the hearing on the Northern Michigan University campus.

Mrs. Robert Foerch chaired the hearing with Otis M. Smith and Daniel B. Burke completing the delegation. Also present were Dr. Robert Jewell, executive chairman of the Commission, and James Phelps, assistant director.

Recognized

Mrs. Foerch, Dearborn, is the immediate past president of the Michigan League of Women Voters and was also connected with the Thomas Study, an educational report, Smith, of Detroit, is a former state supreme court justice and is presently with the legal department of General Motors. Burke is from Bloomfield Hills and is executive vice president of Capital Cities Broadcasting Corporation.

Loren F. Hulsizer, educational consultant, told the Commission that "the inequity in our present system of financing public schools has long been recognized. It exists in the manner we finance school construction and in the manner we finance school operation. A solution to this problem is long overdue."

Hulsizer is consultant to the Dickinson - Iron Intermediate School District at Kingsford.

Specific areas of concern outlined to the Commission included the "abused" property taxation method of finance, the state aid formula, transportation reimbursement, reorganization problems of the various districts, special education, intermediate school district sizes and sponsored programs, vocational education, etc.

Contributing to these problems, testimony insisted, is the large size of district areas which the schools must service and a sparse population.

Wuehle's Statement

All of the testimony offered agreed with an opening statement made by Manistique Area Schools Superintendent Edwin E. Wuehle who said:

"Our major educational problem is to provide programs for students in a school district which is somewhat isolated, sparsely populated, has a high concentration of educationally deprived adults, which has a median family income below the state average, an unemployment rate which is often double the state average and which has nearly three-quarters of its land area exempt from taxes by present taxation methods which apply to private and industrial property.

Wuehle offered statistics bearing out the inequities of taxation pertaining to government - owned or government controlled lands. These lands produce revenues ranging from five to twenty cents per acre, less than half of what they would produce if they were on the tax rolls at the assessed rate, he said.

Schoolcraft County has 74 per cent of its land area either owned by the State of Michigan, the United States government or has been placed in commercial forest reserve.

Barrett Testifies

Luther M. Barrett, superintendent of Escanaba Area Schools, also named finances as the "main problem of education in Michigan today."

He suggested that one area of change in local property taxation be directed at the rate residents of mobile homes pay — a flat tax of $3 per month regardless of size and value, with $2 going to the schools.

Barrett cited the increase in mobile home construction, which accounted for 36 per cent of all new housing initiated in Jan., 1969.

He also recommended that the Legislature set April 1 of each year as its deadline for passage of the state school aid bill. Many things are dependent on the nature of the bill, he added, including realistic appraisals of school needs by allocation boards, availability of funds for bargaining, new programs and other budgetary needs, plus determination of the local millage rates necessary for financing school programs.

He told the commission that the Escanaba Area district is still uncertain whether it will be able to continue a program funded under Section 3 of the State Aid Act, relating to the culturally and socially deprived, because the fate of the program will be determined in new legislation this year.

Limit On Bills

Barrett also suggested that the Legislature make sure existing programs are adequately financed before new ones are initiated; that some less-confining system than tenure for teachers be established; and that a limit be placed on the number of educational bills introduced at each session of the Legislature.

A limit on such bills would insure more discrimination in the type of bills introduced, lawmakers would have a better understanding of prospective legislation, and the entire law-making process would be speeded up, he concluded.

Donald S. Brumbaugh, superintendent of Norway - Vulcan area schools, pointed out the extremes existing in education facilities in the Upper Peninsula. The wealthiest school district in the state is in the U.P., he said: Grant Township in Keweenaw County which has one teacher, one pupil, receives no state or federal aid, operates on 4 mills of local taxation and has only one problem, according to the secretary of the school board, that of filling out local, state and federal forms.

Rudyard Township in Chippewa County has the poorest secondary school district in the state with only $1,886 state equalized valuation (SEV) behind each student. This contrasts with the $2,746,382 SEV in Grant Township, he added.

Transportation Aid

Brumbaugh urged 100 per cent transportation reimbursement, which service, he said, is a "welfare service." He also advocated placing all school personnel on "some form of Civil Service."

In a prepared statement read by Dr. John Frey, Marquette, Rep. Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) urged that aid to non-public schools be reconsidered since "it would be a catastrophe, indeed, if this region of our state were to lose the contributions now being made by our 37 Catholic schools educating approximately 9,000 children. The Upper Peninsula would have a very difficult time absorbing the added economic burden that this would cause."

Jacobetti urged support for "educational reform on an inclusive basis . . . a program that would strengthen the public school system and at the same time provide adequate financial assistance to non-public school systems for secular subjects."

Jean Worth, retired editor of the Escanaba Daily Press, also addressed the commission, urging consideration of the plight of Catholic schools. Worth stipulated his views were those of private citizens.

Provide Guidance

Parochial schools provide a needed, guiding, moral principal for their students, he said, and "since schooling should have a philosophic base it is important who teaches the child and what he teaches him."

"We should not be weighing values in education only on economic scales," he concluded. "And if the Legislature, and the Commission on Educational Reform, will approach this problem with a view of what's best for the young people involved it should be helpful to a solution."

The Commission has two other hearings scheduled—one for Ann Arbor and Detroit later this month.

The boat arrived—after it was mistakenly routed through Escanaba—in a 24-root crate.

"It took us 10 hours just to unpack the crate," he frowned.

Unpacking, however, was just the beginning. In taking inventory of the parts, some were missing. Others were back-ordered and still others —particularly hardware items—were not considered adequate for the purpose they were supported to fulfill.

"The kit cost $2,000, but I've probably got about $2,500 with the additional screws and fittings I had to buy," Kauffman said. As it sits, however, the boat probably is worth quite a bit more than the investment because of the time involved in construction.

Kauffman said Howard Smale, city administrative assistant, was in on the project from the beginning and Jim Larson, Escanaba police officer, helped considerably as the boat neared completion.

The mast is 24 feet high and the boat's first cruise moved crisply on Little Bay de Noc. The boat is equipped with electric lights, operated off a 12-volt battery, a sink, its own water supply and rest room unit, storage cabinets and compact bunks.

"We've still got a lot of finishing work to do, sanding and varnishing, but we only missed our target date for launching by two days," Kauffman smiled.

Considering 2,000 pieces, that's not bad.

Of fiberglass and mahogany construction, the craft is seven feet wide and will sleep four in its enclosed cabin.

Red Owl Stores, Inc., will have a sign erected in the near future to mark the site of its planned shopping center development on Lincoln Drive.

James E. Gottlieb reported to City Manager George Harvey that Red Owl has a sign ordered for the property and is making arrangements for immediate installation.

The City Council last week had threatened to cite Red Owl under a "nuisance" ordinance because of messy condition of the site and the failure of the company to construct a sign to explain that it is the site for a shopping center development to tourists.

Gottlieb said that architects are preparing working drawings for the development and "unless something very unforeseen occurs, construction will be commenced in early fall."

2,000 Pieces, Many Hours Do A New Sailboat Make

BY DAVE ANDREWS

A new sailboat was launched the other day in the Escanaba Yacht Harbor.

But if owner Gene Kauffman had to do it all over again, the "Makai" probably would still be in 2,000 pieces in Minneapolis, Minn.

Kauffman, a newsman-announcer for WDBC and admittedly not much of a carpenter, bought the 20-foot sailboat last winter from Luger Industries, Inc., of Minneapolis. After being lost en route to Escanaba, hundreds of hours in Al Ness' garage and many doubts by the construction crew in the assembly process the boat finally hit the water in near-perfect trim.

Of fiberglass and mahogany construction, the craft is seven feet wide and will sleep four in its enclosed cabin.

Detect Switch In ABM Argument

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Charles Percy says it is "pure hogwash" to argue that the Safeguard missile defense system is needed to strengthen President Nixon's hand for U.S.-Soviet disarmament talks.

And Democratic Sen. Albert Gore says such an argument put forth on behalf of the antiballistic missile program — ABM — in opening debate by fellow Democrats John C. Stennis of Mississippi and Henry M. Jackson of Washington represents "a shift of strategy" by the pro-Safeguard forces.

Gore teamed with Percy to needle Stennis and Jackson as the ABM debate in the Senate heated up Wednesday.

Deterrent

Gore noted President Nixon and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had based their argument for ABM on the need to protect the nation's missile deterrent force. The Tennessee Democrat suggested ABM supporters were departing from that course when they contended Safeguard should be approved to bolster the President for impending disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

"Has the senator noted a shift of strategy and logic today?" Gore asked Percy.

"Yes," responded the Illinois Republican. "I've noticed that. And the argument is pure hogwash."

Up jumped Jackson and Stennis, each demanding recognition to rebut the contention.

"The senator is mistaken. There has been no change in my position," said Stennis, chairman of the Armed Services Committee who opened the debate Tuesday by saying the need to stand behind Nixon was essential.

Denies Charges

"I have not changed my position," Jackson said. "I believe there is a clear need to protect the deterrent. I also believe it is important the President not have the rug pulled from under him at negotiations."

While the ABM debate picked up steam, Laird's testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at a June 23 closed door hearing was made public—providing an additional illustration of the wide split in Washington over what course should be taken in defense and disarmament.

Laird in his testimony re-emphasized the arguments for Safeguard and rejected a suggestion that the United States unilaterally suspend development of multiheaded missiles.

Plane Strikes Runway Deer

So far this year, Delta County law officers have reported a total of 159 car-deer accidents. Last night, Escanaba police reported the first plane-deer collision for 1969.

According to police, a North Central plane was in the process of landing when it collided with the deer in the middle of the runway at the Escanaba Municipal Airport.

Officers said the collision caused considerable damage to the right propeller of the aircraft. No passengers were injured.

The deer was killed instantly. Conservation officers were notified, police reported.

New way: Frogmen open hatch, spray astronauts with de-contaminants and help them into isolation suits with masks.

A HASSLE OVER RECOVERY of the Apollo 11 and its astronauts is in the making following a letter to President Nixon by two Michigan State University biophysicists, Dr. Barnett Rosenberg and Dr. Leroy Augenstein. They press the point that for the capsule to be opened on splashdown can release who knows what sort of contaminants from the Moon, to react on the world in who knows what sort of way. They argue that the astronauts and capsule should remain sealed for scientific investigation.

Divers Rehearse Apollo Recovery

ABOARD THE USS HORNET (AP) — Three Navy divers stood in for the Apollo 11 astronauts in the first full-scale recovery rehearsal for next week's moonshot. It went off Tuesday without a hitch.

But the skipper of the USS Hornet, charged with directing the pickup of man's first moon-landing travelers, said the responsibility is no greater "than the one we exercise every day."

Capt. Carl J. Seiberlich said,

"We have a responsibility to everyone aboard as well as the astronauts."

Seiberlich expressed satisfaction with the practice recovery of the simulated lunar module and three "astronauts" in moderate seas under sunny skies about 60 miles south of Hawaii.

The carrier, the Apollo 11 prime recovery ship, is scheduled to pick up Astronauts Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin Jr., and Michael Collins July 24 after their lunar flight.

The Hornet, which recovered an unmanned Apollo-Saturn space capsule near Wake Island in August 1968, had previously practiced the recovery in sections. This was the first time the entire recovery was rehearsed from splashdown to return of the carrier.

Another rehearsal was to be conducted today en route back to Pearl Harbor.

The carrier, which completed a tour of Vietnam a month ago, will leave again Saturday to take its position in the recovery area.

No Plans To Work Says Liz Taylor

LONDON (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor says, "I may never work again."

The film beauty discussed her career Wednesday at a ceremony in a hotel where she handed a check for $240,000, raised by voluntary organizations, to the National Society for Handicapped Children.

"I do not have a film in line and shall not consider one unless something captivating comes along," Miss Taylor remarked.

John B. Dorton was ordered by Circuit Judge Richard Robinson of Barry County to be confined for treatment. He had been charged with killing his mother Constance, 42, with two shots from a 20 gauge shotgun at her rural Hastings home Jan. 18.

Brown Berets Organize Meet

LANSING (AP) — The Brown Berets, an organization of Mexican-Americans, holds its first statewide meeting Saturday in Lansing to draw up a program to reclaim Mexican-American heritage.

A spokesman said the meeting would enable the Brown Berets Michigan chapters to set up a statewide communications system by building a general assembly of communicators.

"The problem we Mexican-Americans are facing today is 'extinction' without representation," said Daniel Soza Jr., 21, a senior at Michigan State University and chairman of the Saginaw chapter.

"To fight this," said Soza, "we have taken the philosophy of Emiliano Zapata, Mexican revolutionary, who said, 'It is better to die on your feet, than live on your knees.'"

Soza said the Brown Berets were organized in Los Angeles, Calif. in 1961 by a group of Mexican-Americans to demand more Mexican-American school teachers, cultural studies and more student voice in the Anglo-American school system.

The first Michigan chapter was formed in Kalamazoo in 1968, he said, and there now are other chapters in Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing and Saginaw, with a total membership of about 200.

Current goals of the Brown Berets, said Soza, are:

—Establish Mexican-American culture classes in the public school system.

—Set up a scholarship fund for Mexican-Americans, besides those being offered by other organizations.

—Aid in the Michigan boycott of California grapes.

Group Requests Road Priority

PORT HURON (AP) — A state representative from Port Huron urged Gov. William Milliken Wednesday to give Michigan highway 21 top priority in upcoming construction plans.

William L. Jowett, a Republican from the 76th district, said he met with the governor and presented him with a newspaper article and pictures showing the poor condition of present M 21. Jowett called the two-lane, asphalt highway between Flint and Port Huron "deplorable and dangerous."

He said Milliken expressed deep concern "and assured me that he will... do whatever he can to update plans for improving the highway and giving these plans top priority."

A freeway is currently under construction over the route, but isn't expected to be completed until 1975.

U Of D's Dental College Gets Aid

LANSING (AP) — The University of Detroit, a private college operated by the Roman Catholic Church, has been allocated $150,000 by the Michigan Legislature to shore up its founding dental school.

Despite denials from its supporters, the measure stands as the latest development in an ongoing legislative battle over parochial—state aid to private and church operated schools.

After two days of protracted debate, the House voted 62-43 Wednesday to join with the Senate in endorsing the bill to pay "each accredited nonpublic school of dentistry in the state" $2,400 for each graduated doctor of dental surgery or dental medicine.

The U of D, as the lone private dental school in Michigan, would be the sole beneficiary of the bill. The University of Michigan has the only public state dental school.

Earlier senate review of the bill proved uneventful.

The House, however, embroiled for several months with controversial parochial bills proposing as much as $40 million for private and church-run elementary and secondary schools found the dental aid bill no simple question.

As an amendment of the $848.6 million school aid bill, parochial met defeat in the lower chamber.

Largely because of that experience, Wednesday's House vote focused on the constitutionality of state funds for a private college, whether or not church-affiliated, overshadowing consideration of the U of D's financial plight, its jeopardized accreditation and the state's shortage of practicing dentists.

Convinced

Rep. James Farnsworth, R-Plainwell, who supported the bill, called it "the Senate's version of parochialism."

Rep. Raymond Smit, R-Ann Arbor, opposed the bill as "higher ed parochialism."

Numerous supporters of the bill contended that only dentists were involved, not religion. They presented a mass of statistical arguments to show the need and public benefit to be gained from the appropriation.

"For our $2,400 we get a graduated dentist, ready to produce," said Rep. Thomas Ford, R-Grand Rapids. Ford, who voted against parochialism, said he was "absolutely convinced" that concept had no relevance to the question of helping the school.

Phy Ed Building Out For College

The Board of Trustees of Bay de Noc Community College Wednesday night began consideration of alternatives for the college's physical education program after Dr. Richard Rinehart, college president, reported the Legislature had failed to appropriate planning funds for the proposed facility.

A number of alternatives to the originally-planned building were discussed, including the possibility of using the new

Hayakawa Now Full President

LOS ANGELES (AP) — S.I. Hayakawa has advanced from temporary to permanent president of troubled San Francisco State College with blessings from Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Hayakawa, a jaunty, soft-spoken language expert, left open the possibility that he might seek the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate next year.

Republican Reagan said of the 62-year-old campus leader: "He is an example throughout the country of the relatively small group that have stood firm" in college disorders.

Reagan and other state college trustees voted 16-2 Wednesday to name Hayakawa permanent San Francisco State president.

As acting president since last fall, Hayakawa called in hundreds of police to keep the campus open through four months of violence, bombings, charges of police brutality and student vandalism.

Stock Market Takes Tumble

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a sharp tumble into lower territory early this afternoon, with the Dow Jones industrial average off more than 10 points and losses ahead of gains by a bit less than 500 issues.

Trading was fairly active. The DJI, which lost a total of 24.50 points in this week's previous three sessions, was off 10.21 at 851.41.

Analysts said penetration of the 800 level by the DJI brought in "some selling by the chartists who regarded that level as a support area."

"But the big thing behind this and previous declines," an analyst said, "is the credit crunch and the high interest rates resulting from it. It seems that during an inflation-fighting period, the stock market takes it on the chin."

Brokers said: "There's a lot of cash around, but even with prices down to what are considered bargain levels it's not rushing in to buy. A lot of these investors seem to be waiting for some break for the better in the adverse developments that have been weighing on the market, such as tight money and the concern over what happens to the income tax surcharge extension."

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 1.9 at 304.9, with industrials off 3.9, rails off .6, and utilities off .4.

Stop ABM Group Visits Governor

LANSING (AP) — The executive office and legislators were visited Wednesday by some 50 members of the Michigan Stop ABM Committee, opposed to the antiballistic missile system.

They left a letter for Gov. William Milliken urging his support of state House and Senate resolutions calling upon Congress to stop the escalation of the nuclear arms race by rejecting the ABM system and instead allocating national resources to pressing social needs.

Strawberry Time In Copper Country

CHASSELL (AP) — Some 100 growers will be host at the 21st annual Copper Country Strawberry Festival Friday and Saturday. The Chassell Lions Club, which promotes the festival to celebrate the harvest, stated that cool weather would not affect the supply of strawberries for sale and picking.

A Friday night ball will follow choosing of the Strawberry Queen. Saturday's events will include a kangaroo court to sentence a holiday-bound motorist to area hospitality and strawberry field tours.

Strawberries, a quarter million dollar a year business in the Copper Country, were grown in the area since the turn of the century. But the business grew tremendously starting in 1929 when the Michigan State University Extension Service encouraged it as a fitting crop for the climate and soil conditions.

New Television Station Named

The Federal Communications Commission has granted the call letters WJMN to Channel 3, Escanaba, now under construction to serve the central upper peninsula of Michigan.

Announcement of the FCC's action was made today by Robert O. Southard, vice president and general manager of WFRV-TV, Green Bay, which will own and operate the new facility.

Southard said the letters "WJMN" are the initials of Mrs. Jane Morton Norton, Louisville, Ky., chairman of the board of WAVE, Inc., Louisville, which owns and operates WFRV, Inc., Green Bay. In addition to the Green Bay and Escanaba stations, WAVE, Inc., also owns and operates radio and television stations in Louisville, and Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

"We felt we could pay Mrs. Norton no greater honor than to request her initials as the call letters of the latest addition to the WAVE chain of stations," Southard stated.

Construction on the new station is progressing at the expected rate, said Harry Hill, chief engineer for WFRV-TV and the new WJMN-TV. Hill said excavations for the tower footings are well underway at the site 4.3 miles south of Trenary, east of U.S. 41, on Delta County Rd. 444.

Laird Urged To End Military Cargo On Lakes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twelve Senators urged Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird Wednesday to discontinue the Military Sea Transport Service at Great Lakes ports.

Their letter was made public by Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., one of the signers.

It said: "At a time when nonessential defense expenditures must be kept at a minimum, it is disturbing to read that the Defense Department is operating a shipping service to the Great Lakes ports—contrary to economic good sense."

"Reports indicate that the Great Lakes area simply cannot provide the Military Sea Transport Service vessels with sufficient cargo. The first ship sailed only two-thirds full and it is likely that the other vessels involved will do so also. We have been advised that in order to find sufficient cargo military traffic has been artificially routed through the St. Lawrence Seaway from points as far away as Georgia and Maryland. Moreover, these ships may well return empty because retrograde cargo returning to the U.S. is not moved inland."

Briefly Told

The Delta County Health Department announced that an Immunization Clinic will be held Friday, July 11, from 2 until 4 at the Delta County Building.

State Police issued citations Wednesday to Gerald Healy, Marquette, speeding; Robert Johnston, Marinette, Wis., no operators license; Edward Eiedlecki, 210 N. 3rd Ave., Wells, illegal use of studded tires; and Lawrence Gagner, Kipling illegal use of studded tires.

Escanaba police issued traffic tickets Wednesday to Rayne W. Labre, 809 S. 11th St., Escanaba, speeding; and Anna Rose Benoit, Rte. 2, Rapid River, failure to yield right of way.

No Reaction To Intentional Slip

DETROIT (AP) — A secret code on a local Detroit television news broadcast Wednesday night has failed so far to elicit a reaction from an anonymous letter writer who said he could name the killer of the six girls slain in the Ann Arbor area in two years.

Ann Arbor Police Chief Walter Krasny asked a WJBK-TV newscaster to intentionally mispronounce the name of weather forecaster Jerry Hodak, pronouncing it as Kodak, to alert the man who said he knew who the killer was.

The man, in letters to Krasny and the Detroit News "Secret Witness" program, asked that the $3,500 currently available in rewards be given to Detroit's John Cardinal Dearden. He wrote that he would identify the man to Dearden in return for the money.

The mispronouncing of Hodak's name would be the tipoff that Krasny was cooperating. The experiment was run on the 6 p.m. broadcast Wednesday but apparently to no avail.

Krasny decided to follow the instructions in the letter, one of ten or more he receives every day with alleged information about the crimes, in a "one-shot effort" that the man might be able to pick out the murderer. He said he found the letter more interesting than the others.

beginnings in the Upper Peninsula, Cohodas Brothers Co. and its affiliates expanded their interests until they develop a nation-wide organization in the growing, processing and selling in the food industry.

Small Fruit Business

Sam Cohodas and his Brothers were operating a small fruit and produce business in the Copper Country at the time of World War I. Sam interrupted his business career to serve in the armed forces. In 1919 he returned to Ishpeming after completing his military service, where Sam and his brothers expanded their operation into Marquette County.

Sam had the vision to see the ultimate opportunity for serving on a nation-wide magnitude, and had both the creative imagination and endless capacity for work and organization to put that dream into dimension.

In 1930, he was director of Western Fruit Jobbers, three years later its president and honorary life member. He helped merge this with other organizations to form United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, major organization of its kind in the country, and he served as its director for several years. In 1940 he became an officer in the International Apple Association and was on the executive board. In 1946 he was elevated to the presidency and in 1947 as treasurer and continued until 1960.

The Cohodas Brothers Company prospered, too.

Interests Expanded
The Cohodas Brothers Co., since 1932, have been growers of apples and cherries in Michigan, and developed their growing interests to the Yakima Valley of Washington State in 1942, expanding their interests there in growing, cold storage and sales.

At the present time, Sam Cohodas is retired from Cohodas Brothers companies of Wisconsin and Michigan. His brother, Max, of Appleton, is board chairman; Harry Cohodas, Houghton, senior vice-president and treasurer; Arnold M. Cohodas, Appleton, is president and Willard L. Cohodas of Ishpeming, executive vice-president.

Sam M. Cohodas, who is spokesman for the family, has received a number of awards and recognitions for his work in a wide diversity of activities. His interest in affairs of the Upper Peninsula has not diminished. Office walls covered with tributes and plaques attest to the service he has given to a wide variety of constructive projects and programs.

Many Awards
Sarasota, Fla., gave him the Israel Jerusalem Freedom Award for his continued Israeli support; his home city of Ishpeming honored him as Citizen of the Year; he has been cited for raising $250,000 for new homes for children at Bay Cliff Health Camp; Bell Memorial Hospital, Ishpeming, is grateful to him for spearheading a drive for $1,300,000 to construct a new hospital; he raised $50,000 for a Boy Scout Council Camp.

It has gone that way down the line. Name a community effort and Sam is on the board or the executive committee, giving of himself in a variety of ways, to work for the success of the project.

Such a man has come to Escanaba to give leadership to First National Bank and Trust Co.

Man Admits Killing Two In Ann Arbor

FLINT (AP) — Police today questioned a 23-year-old Toledo, Ohio, man who they said talked about killing two girls in Ann Arbor, a 73-year-old woman in Kentucky and a motorist in Michigan.

Police Chief James W. Rutherford of Flint identified the man as John Spirko, arrested early Wednesday on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Rutherford said police in Covington, Ky., had been hunting Spirko and have a warrant for his arrest in connection with the July 3 killing of Mrs. Myra Ashcraft, who apparently was tied and strangled after interrupting burglars at her Covington home. Covington police were in Flint today, seeking to extradite Spirko.

Extradition

Rutherford said extradition proceedings would be delayed until Spirko was questioned further about the three other reported killings.

He quoted Spirko as saying he killed a girl in the Ann Arbor area about four months ago and another girl in the same area about two and a half months ago.

Seven young women have been slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the past two years. An Ann Arbor man was charged earlier this week with the seventh killing but the others have remained unsolved.

Rutherford said Spirko was "hazy" about details of the supposed killings in Ann Arbor.

The police chief said Spirko also claimed he robbed and shot a motorist with whom he had hitched a ride from Toledo into Michigan. Rutherford said Spirko asserted that he dumped the motorist's body in a woods near Ann Arbor and took the man's car to Bay City.

Holdup Man
Rutherford said that when Spirko was asked to describe where the motorist supposedly was killed, "he said 45 minutes to an hour after the man picked him up."

Witnesses to the armed robbery of a bar early Sunday in Bay City identified Spirko as the holdup man. Rutherford said about $300 was taken in the robbery.

Police said a quantity of money and money wrappers found in Spirko's hotel room at Flint was believed to have been taken from the Bay City tavern.

When Spirko was arrested Wednesday, officers said they confiscated a .32-caliber pistol from him.

Police said Spirko's 16-year-old girlfriend is being held in Toledo in connection with the Covington killing. Officers said the pair reportedly went to Kentucky to obtain a marriage license.

Rutherford said Spirko has indicated he would waive extradition in the Kentucky charge.

Other officers elected were David Mason, vice president; Mrs. Myrtle Anspaugh, secretary, and Mrs. William Baum, treasurer.

Budget Is Still Being Shaped

LANSING (AP) — More than a week after the start of the fiscal year it is intended to pay for, Gov. William G. Milliken's massive, $1.534 billion budget still is being chipped and molded into its final form.

House and Senate negotiating teams continue talks aimed at resolving differences over funds and special projects to be contained by the final, symbolic check that must be drafted by State Treasurer Allison Green to cover expenses through June 30, 1970.

Disagreement still surrounds the 15 budget bills, worth several million dollars more than Milliken's own $1.51 billion recommendation.

Led by Sen. Charles O. Zoller, R-Benton Harbor, and Rep. William Copeland, D-Wyandotte Appropriations Committee chairmen for their respective chambers, legislative negotiators agreed Wednesday to restore a controversial $4 million allocation for planning and construction of a State Capitol building.

House rebels ripped the sum from a $51 - million capital outlay appropriation bill to protest apparent executive and legislative acceptance of plans drafted by the Detroit architectural firm of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls Associates, Inc.

Meanwhile, legislators reviewing a $287 million appropriation for the state's colleges and universities were understood considering slashing more than half of a $4 million additional appropriation for the University of Michigan.

The $4 million was restored to the university's allocation by the House after Senate cuts, urged by Zoller, left it far below even Milliken's recommended allowance. The university reported it would have to increase tuition if no additional funds were received.

Pat Nixon Admits Flying Lessons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pat Nixon says she once took flying lessons from a boyfriend while in college, but never got a pilot's license because the romantic attachment didn't last long enough.

The President's wife made the disclosure at a White House party for some 200 women pilots who have flown in the Powder Puff Derby, a transcontinental air race for women.

Winner of this year's derby was Mrs. Mara Culp, 27, who comes from the President's hometown of Whittier, Calif.

Young Marine Predicts Death

LUDINGTON (AP) — Marine Corps Pfc. Delbert "Duff" Brimmer had been in Vietnam about a month when his letter was delivered to his parents.

"I knew somehow when I left for Vietnam that I wouldn't be coming back, mom and dad. Don't grieve for me — instead grieve for these poor, depressed and undeveloped countries."

"Grieve also for the other nations of the world, for they do not realize they are slowly but surely destroying our world."

"Perhaps by giving my life to help end this war, I have given the world a little boost towards the goal of brotherly love."

"If I have, then I feel I have fulfilled my obligation to God, my country and the Corps—and most of all to my parents."

"What more can a man hope to do in life?"

The 20-year-old Brimmer was killed in action June 30. He was buried in Ludington today.

Bill Provides Bimonthly Pay To Farm Workers

LANSING (AP)—Many of the state's agricultural workers must be paid at least bimonthly under provisions of a bill on its way to Gov. William Milliken for signing.

The measure, passed 30-2 in the Senate Tuesday, includes farm labor—except those workers paid daily on a piece-rate basis—under provisions of the state wage and hours act.

Already approved in the House, the labor bill also provides that such employees must receive a list of the deductions that will be withheld from their pay by employers.

Senate Agriculture Chairman Alvin DeGrow, R-Pigeon, said most farm workers now are paid monthly.

Forcing Employers
"You're forcing (employers) to do something they don't choose to do," said DeGrow, who voted against the measure with Sen. Gary Byker, R-Hudsonville. "It's foolish that people are scheduled to work for a solid month and not receive payment," said Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit. "There are necessities they have to have."

"If a worker doesn't like the terms of employment, he has to choose whether to go elsewhere," DeGrow argued. "If he doesn't like it, he can go to work in a factory."

In other action, the Senate reversed its previous defeat of a bill allowing the state to deduct Lansing city income tax payments from employees' checks.

Senate Taxation Chairman Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek, promised the bill "has nothing to do with residency." The reconsideration vote was 29-1.

School Buses
A House-approved measure dealing with painting of school buses won easy 32-1 passage, but a move to require seat belts for all school children on the buses failed.

"I think the Senate has shown a lack of concern for school children," said Sen. Basil Brown D-Highland Park, after his seat belt proposal was turned down.

"It may cost $1 million" for seat belts, he said. "But it seems incongruous that the Legislature is spending $100 million for recreation and engineering a $50 million capital complex, but it will not provide for the maximum safety for school kids."

"My opposition to the amendment has nothing to do with cost," countered Sen. Michael O'Brien, D-Detroit. "I'm concerned with safety also."

Intermediate Districts
Also passed in the upper chamber was a bill providing for the dissolution of intermediate school districts.

"This would allow the districts to dissolve when they cannot provide services," explained Senate Education Chairman Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo, who said the bill was aimed at helping the Barry Intermediate District, which wants to dissolve.

Before the 29-2 vote for the bill, Sen. Robert VanderLaan, R-Grand Rapids, withdrew an amendment that would have provided for all intermediate district school board members to be elected at large from their areas.

Public Hearings On Sex Guidelines

LANSING (AP) — Public hearings on proposed guidelines for sex education in Michigan public schools will be held "as rapidly as is feasible" across the state by the State Board of Education.

The board took the action Wednesday following receipt of the controversial report detailing procedures for family planning and sex education in state schools.

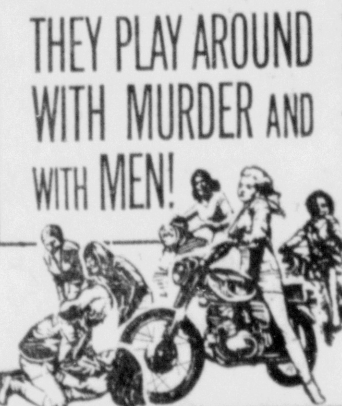

Although no specific dates nor locations were immediately set, the board said the hearings should be held in Detroit, Grand Rapids, the Flint-Saginaw area, Lansing, the northern part of the Lower Peninsula and the Upper Peninsula.

In a related action, the board requested the Legislature to delete an amendment in the department's budget bill that orders the board to set rules for sex and birth control instruction in Michigan's public schools.

American League Names All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League hopes to roll out the old home run cannon to try to snap the National League's six-game win streak in the July 22 All-Star game at Washington with sluggers like Reggie Jackson and Frank Howard in the starting line-up.

The big surprise in the line-up, announced Wednesday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, was the absence of Baltimore's Brooks Robinson, the third base starter five years in a row. Brooks gave way to Sal Bando of the Oakland A's.

Baltimore, breezing along in the Eastern Division, wound up with outfielder Frank Robinson and first baseman John "Boog" Powell in the starting eight.

Elaine Fairchild Leads All Golfers In Highland Play

Elaine Fairchild paced all golfers during league play and the 19th Holes hung on to a 1 1/2 point in the league standings during play in the Highland Golf Club Women's League yesterday.

Other low scores were turned in by Vicki Beck with a 48 and Carolyn Nelson and Dorothy Looden with 49's. Golf ball winners were Elaine Nelson, Marcine Smith, Lorraine Teal, Armine Sundquist, Mary Niquette, Phyllis Anderson, Ruth Stade and Marjorie Olson.

At an invitational held at the North Shore Country Club in Menominee on Tuesday, Vicki Beck shot two 44's for low gross and Dorothy Looden had a 39 for low net. Others attending were Irene Milkovich and Elaine Fairchild.

Any women interested in playing in the U. P. tournament are reminded that the deadline for entering is July 14. Anyone wishing to go is asked to call Carol Davidson, Davidson, 786-4273, for reservations.

League standings: 19th Holes 40, Costley Strokes 38 1/2, Highland Flingers 35, Back's Bombers 33, Glad Bags 31 1/2, Fairway Swingers 31, Frie's Funnies and Handi-Caps 30 1/2.

Senators Shutout Indians While President Watches

By The Associated Press
Ted Williams summed it up after winning Wednesday night something like Richard Nixon must have after winning last November: "It's about time!"

"I've known him since 1950 and I've been a Nixon man all the time," Williams insisted after his Washington Senators blanked Cleveland 3-0 with the President in attendance. But Nixon's three previous trips to the ballpark this season meant nothing but grief—and losses—for the Senators.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City nipped Minnesota 4-3, the Chicago White Sox tripped Oakland 5-3, Baltimore edged the New York Yankees 6-5 in 10 innings, Detroit took Boston 6-5 and Seattle walloped California 8-0, then lost 5-0.

The Senators, who had beaten Cleveland 10 of 12 without Nixon's help, took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Mike Epstein's bloop double. The President arrived an inning later with daughter Tricia and son-in-law David Eisenhower, just in time to see Del Unser single for one run and Frank Howard do the same for another.

Joe Coleman breezed with a four-hitter, struck out 11 and Pitchers are picked later. Oakland, running second to Minnesota in the Western Division, also had a pair—Bando at third and Jackson in the outfield.

Rico Petrocelli, Boston's shortstop who has developed into a long ball threat, topped the balloting of players, managers and coaches with 286 votes. The next best was Jackson's 260. Players were not permitted to vote for their own teammates.

Howard, the giant-sized Washington slugger who is fighting with Jackson for the home run title, was one of three repeaters from the 1968 starting line-up. The others were catcher Bill Freehan of Detroit and second baseman Rod Carew of Minnesota, the current batting leader.

Baltimore and Oakland each had two starters and Minnesota, Boston, Washington and Detroit one each. By divisions the East had five, the West three.

Members of the National League's starting line-up will be announced Friday afternoon. The remainder of the 28-man squads, including pitchers, will be selected by the managers and announced over a 10-day period.

Mayo Smith, who led Detroit to the pennant last year, will manage the Americans against Red Schoendienst, his World Series rival as skipper of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The vote for third base was close with Bando beating Brooks Robinson 163-126. At first it was Powell over Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota 210-96. Killebrew also got 33 votes for third base although the players were told to vote for a man at only one position. Carew won over Tommy Harper of Seattle, 255-32 in the second base competition involving nine players. Petrocelli had a 286-18 edge over Mark Belanger of Baltimore at short and Freehan beat out John Roseboro of Minnesota 155-74 for the catching job.

Outfielders were not named by position. The top men were Jackson, 260, Frank Robinson, 250, and Howard, 169. Next best was Paul Blair of Baltimore, 98.

The 1968 starters who did not make it were Killebrew at first, Brooks Robinson at third, Jim Fregosi of California at short and Willie Horton of Detroit and Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, winner of two straight league batting titles, in the outfield. Any or all may be picked later by Manager Smith.

Baltimore players wound up with the most total votes, 763, compared to 549 for Minnesota. The once-mighty New York Yankees got only 21. Seattle's expansion club got 92 votes, and Kansas City got nine.

Mountaineers To Get Lights

IRON MOUNTAIN—The Iron Mountain board of education has approved a lighting system for Mountaineer Stadium by agreeing to assume the cost of installing electrical transformers for the system.

Cost of the installation will be approximately $2,400 and this will be pro-rated over a four year period. The remainder of the cost involved in lighting the field will be raised by the Iron Mountain Booster Club.

The Booster Club has raised about $6,000 of the $8,000 needed for putting up the lights. Plans for the system started in the talking stage after the football season last year and moved into high gear after the first of the year.

Four poles will be used in the system and they have arrived at the stadium and will be erected soon. They will be located 50 feet back from the field with two on each side of the field 20 yards apart. The poles are 80 feet high and will stand 69 feet out of the ground.

The Mountaineers will play three home games next year and these are scheduled for night contests. The home games are against Holy Name, West Iron County and Kingsford.

Matchick's Big Bat Gets Tigers Victory

BOSTON (AP) — When Detroit Manager Mayo Smith finally put together an outfield for Wednesday's game at Boston he found a gaping hole at shortstop, so he plucked Tom Matchick off the bench to fill it.

The light-hitting utility man promptly made a genius out of his skipper by driving in the game's first three runs to help the Tigers eke out a 6-5 victory.

"He's been pretty much of a utility man at third or short. But I wanted to get some left-handed hitters in there today, and I had to use Tom Tresh in the outfield, so I figured it was a good time to use him."

Lions Announce Player Changes

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions Wednesday traded utility center Mike Alford to the Atlanta Falcons for a 1970 draft choice and also announced the retirement of halfback Jim Welsh.

Alford, 26, was a member of the taxi squad the past two seasons but was a regular in 1966. The Auburn graduate was acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals that year. He was the Cards' 14th draft choice in 1965.

Welsh, 31, was acquired by Detroit last season from the Baltimore Colts for whom he played eight years. He was a member of the Lions' specialty teams.

Outdoor Sports

By Bob Gregg

I'm going to direct this week's outdoor column to those fishermen who say themselves experts.

Let me start off by saying that if there were ever a sport where no one could be considered an expert, it's fishing!

A good fisherman, like a good doctor, never stops learning about his favorite pastime.

After they have mastered all aspects of angling, some fishermen get "cocky" and soon find their catches getting smaller and smaller.

How often have you noticed that the fisherman who "knows it all" is usually the one with the fewest and smallest fish at the end of the day? He's also the guy who doesn't bother to ask any questions, and probably wouldn't accept advice no matter how well meaning it is.

This unfortunate angler's problem is that his knowledge gets in the way of his ability to observe and ask questions. For this is the way most successful anglers learn what's happening. They don't assume they know everything.

Fortunately, many good fishermen are eager to pass their knowledge onto others.

This art of being inquisitive works well when you are about to fish unfamiliar waters.

One of the best ways to find out what fish are biting, and when and where to go, is to talk to local persons who are ardent anglers themselves.

A few minutes spent with today's lucky fishermen may enrich your fishing tomorrow.

Not that they'll tell you all their secrets, of course, but you can usually pick up enough information to make tomorrow's trip more productive.

It's also good to observe which lures are hanging from lucky angler's rods at the end of a successful fishing trip.

In all my fishing adventures, I've noticed that the real knowledgeable fishermen are those who know they don't know it all.

Seaver Baffles Cubs; Mets Get Seventh Straight

By The Associated Press
Their dizzying dash towards the more respectable neighborhood in the National League standings has turned everything topsy-turvy for the prosperous New York Mets.

Tom Seaver pitched a one-hitter, beating Chicago 4-0 for the Mets' seventh straight victory Wednesday night. It trimmed the Cubs' lead over New York to three games in the East Division race. It should have been a source of great joy. It was, believe it or not, a source of great disappointment.

That's because Seaver flirted with immortality by retiring 25 consecutive Cubs before rookie Jimmy Qualls ended his perfect game bid with a one-out single in the ninth inning.

Deprives Seaver
That single by the No. 8 hitter in the Cubs' line-up deprived Seaver of his line in the record book but it couldn't keep New York from continuing its tear towards the top. Yet, it added the touch of aggravation that always seems to follow the Mets.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh nipped Montreal twice 4-3 in 10 innings and 3-2, Philadelphia split with St. Louis, winning 7-1 before losing 5-3, San Francisco bombed Houston 10-3, Cincinnati edged San Diego 4-3 and Los Angeles dropped Atlanta 3-1.

Seaver drove in a run with a second inning single as the Mets jumped on Ken Holtzman, knocking out the Cub left-hander and taking a 3-0 lead in the first two innings.

Fans 11
Then Seaver became a one-man show, retiring the Cubs 1-2-3 in every inning. He struck out five of the first six batters he faced and fanned 11 for the game.

Randy Hundley bunted Seaver's first pitch in the ninth inning and the pitcher threw him out for the 25th Cub to go down in order. Then Qualls rapped the next pitch for the hit. Seaver then retired the next two hitters

Pirates Take Two
Pittsburgh swept the Expos, winning the first game on Richie Hebner's leadoff triple in the 10th inning and a one-out single by Jose Martinez and then taking the second one on an eight-inning pinch double by Willie Stargell.

Matty Alou, who had six hits in the doubleheader, opened the seventh inning of the nightcap with a single and came around to score Pittsburgh's tying run on a sacrifice, a wild pitch and an error. Then Fred Patek beat out an infield single with two doubled him home.

Woody Fryman pitched a seven-inning game for the Cardinals, with Brock's two-run shot in the ninth erasing a 3-2 Phillie lead.

The Giants, held to one hit for seven innings by Denny Lemaster, exploded for four runs in the seventh and then got a bases-loaded homer by Bob Burda and a solo shot by Dick Dietz in the eighth to whack Houston.

Tommy Helms cracked a single, two doubles and a triple, leading Cincinnati past San Diego. Airtight relief by Pedro Ramos and Wayne Granger in the late innings saved the victory for Jim Merritt.

Bill Singer pitched a four-hitter and Los Angeles tightened its grip on first place in the West Division by knocking off Atlanta, Manny Mota, who went 8-for-10 in Tuesday's doubleheader sweep against the Braves, added three more hits Wednesday.

Hope Beetle Traps Empty

LANSING (AP) — The State Agriculture Department has a unique attitude toward its summer Japanese beetle trapping program—it will be a success if it fails.

The state department, working with the U.S. Agriculture Department, set out 16,000 of the bright yellow beetle traps in June. They will remain until August.

If few of the pesky Japanese beetles are found, the program will be deemed a success.

A new and more effective lure is being used for the first time this year. An aromatic oil has replaced the former insecticide used in the traps, allowing them to be set farther apart.

The Japanese beetle feeds on more than 250 varieties of vegetation.

The traps help the department locate the beetles and plan for eradication programs. The larvae spend 10 months underground before emerging in July. The insects are about three-eighths of an inch long and can be identified by their copper colored back and bluish-green head.

Traps have been set out this year in the metropolitan areas of Detroit, Adrian, East Lansing, Muskegon, Marshall and Barry, Berrien, Calhoun, Genesee, Lenawee, Macomb, Oakland and St. Clair counties.

"We have received excellent cooperation from property owners," noted Dean Lovett, plant industry division chief of the state department. "Only a few traps have been moved at the request of property owners."

Steelworkers In Canada Strike

TORONTO (AP) — The United Steelworkers of America called a work stoppage today that could dry up Canada's nickel production and cripple the steel industry on three continents.

The work stoppage—the union refused to call it a strike—was called for 8 a.m. today at the Sudbury and Port Colborne, Ont., plants of International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd. (Inco).

The company produces 40 per cent of the world's nickel, used to harden steel. A prolonged strike could cripple the production of everything from silverware to jet engines in the United States, Canada, Japan and Western Europe.

Negotiations between the company and the union were suspended until 11 a.m. today. Both sides said they were far apart and prospects for an early settlement appeared slight.

Anticipating a strike, Inco began closing down its operations over the weekend and was reported operating at one-third capacity Wednesday night.

Homer Seguin, president of Steelworkers Local 6500 at Sudbury, said the work stoppage was not a strike but a "forced lockout" because the company has not moved toward a settlement.

Morrall Thinks About Retiring

By The Associated Press

Not one, but both key quarterbacks from last year's Super Bowl might be missing when the pro football season opens.

Joe Namath, the reluctant quarterback of the New York Jets, announced his retirement a month ago. On Wednesday, Earl Morrall of the Baltimore Colts, indicated he might retire, too.

Morrall was named vice president for operations of Trans National Communications Inc., which owns the Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League, among other enterprises.

He told a San Francisco news conference he would fly to Detroit to set up his TNC office and then discuss his possible retirement with the Colts in Baltimore this weekend. The Colts open training camp on Sunday.

"My communications with them will be the deciding factor," said the National Football League's 1968 Player of the Year. "At this point, I'm right in the middle."

So is Namath, but for a different reason.

The flamboyant Jet star said in Corona, Calif., where he's making a movie, that he's sticking to his decision not to obey Commissioner Pete Rozelle's order to get rid of his part interest in a Manhattan restaurant allegedly frequented by gamblers.

Namath said he has no plans to report to the Jets training camp which opens this weekend on Long Island, as much as he'd like to.

"I would change my mind if someone would say where I was wrong," he said. "If I have been wrong, I won't want any part of the restaurant."

The Jets, meanwhile, said they have signed rookie quarterback Al Woodall, their No. 2 draft choice and Namath's possible successor. In addition, split end George Sauer, one of three Jets who said they wouldn't play without Namath, indicated he's changed his mind but wouldn't say why.

Despite his big season last year, Morrall still might have to fight for his job as he has had to throughout his 13-year career. He said quarterback John Unitas, sidelined much of last season because of injuries, has been throwing well all summer.

"If the Colts really need me and want me back, this is the direction I would go," said Morrall, who led Baltimore to the NFL championship last year.

In another retirement, Nick Buoniconti, five time All-American Football League linebacker, said he notified the Miami Dolphins he was leaving football to devote himself to his law practice. Buoniconti, acquired by the Dolphins from the Boston Patriots in an off-season trade, said fruitless contract talks prompted his decision.

Casper Stays Among Leaders

LYTHAM ST. ANNES, England (AP) — Steady Bill Casper put himself in strong contention in the British Open Golf Championship today by firing another two-under-par 70 for a two-round total of 140. But Jack Nicklaus' failure to conquer the back nine may have put him out of reach of the title.

Nicklaus, who shot an opening round 75, fired a 33 for the first nine holes then, took a 37 coming home.

Although his 70 duplicated Casper's, Nicklaus was much further back with a 145 total, seven strokes behind the early leaders, Tony Jacklin and Alex Caygill.

Casper, of Sandiego, Calif., also went out in 33 and came home in 37, but finished just two strokes back of the leading British pair with first-round leader Bob Charles of New Zealand scheduled to start later in the day. Charles had an opening 66.

The struggling American contingent also suffered another blow when George Archer, the Masters champion from Gilroy, Calif., withdrew because of illness. Archer, who shot an opening 79, was stricken with gastroenteritis and a heavy cold.

All-Star Squad Opens Workouts

CHICAGO (AP) — A squad of more than forty college football stars assembled in Evanston Wednesday to prepare for their Aug. 1 battle against the world champion New York Jets in the 36th annual College All-Star Football Game.

Coach Otto Graham and his six assistants say this year's team is a great one, especially in the front line, six of whose members were picked in the first round of the pro draft.

But four of last year's greatest college stars won't be at the first practice because they haven't signed their pro contracts yet.

Among the absentees is O. J. Simpson, Southern Cal's super back who's still dickering with the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League.

Also in that category are Purdue's Leroy Keyes, Michigan's Ron Johnson, and Penn State's Ted Kwalick.

The champion Jets began working out for the game Wednesday in New York, also minus their leading man, quarterback Joe Namath.

This will be the first year the Stars will face AFL opposition in the game. They've lost the last five to NFL champs, since they beat the Green Bay Packers in 1963.

Farm Price Index Increases

LANSING (AP) — The index of prices received by Michigan farmers in mid-June was 276 per cent of the 1910-14 average, an increase of three points from the previous month. The State Crop Reporting Service said higher prices for beef, hogs and eggs primarily were responsible for the increase. The index was 11 points above mid-June of 1968.

Bishop To Stand Trial In Murder Of U Of M Coed

ANN ARBOR (AP) — An ex-convict accused of killing a University of Michigan coed has been ordered to stand trial for first-degree murder in the death of the seventh young woman slain in the Ann Arbor area the past two years.

District Court Judge S. J. Elden denied a defense motion Wednesday that the charge against Ernest R. Bishop Jr., 28, be reduced to manslaughter, and ordered the defendant held without bond for a July 25 trial in Washtenaw County Circuit Court.

District Court Judge S. J. Elden denied a defense motion that the charge against Ernest R. Bishop Jr., 28, be reduced to manslaughter, and ordered the defendant held without bond for a July 25 trial in Washtenaw County Circuit Court.

Bishop is accused of fatally wounding 25-year-old Margaret Phillips, a B-plus graduate student, last Saturday morning. The coed was shot twice in the head and died about 24 hours later.

"Dave" Did It

At a preliminary hearing Wednesday, Bishop was quoted by a close friend as saying he saw a blond man named "Dave" kill Miss Phillips. But police said they have found no evidence to substantiate the story.

Clifford Shewcraft, 25, who worked with Bishop for a time on an Ann Arbor garbage truck, testified that after Bishop told him about "Dave," they drove to the Huron River where Bishop threw a gun into the water.

Miss Phillips' roommate, Judith Rubin, 21, of Elyria, Ohio, testified that she heard two, possibly three, loud bangs moments before someone stepped quickly from Miss Phillips' room and out the door of their apartment.

Shewcraft said he was awakened by Bishop about midnight. "I heard a knock on the door, and it was Ernest—soaking wet. He looked like he was crying, scared," the witness said.

They drove to the outskirts of Ann Arbor on U.S. 23 until they reached a bridge over the Huron River, Shewcraft related, adding that Bishop got out of the car and threw the gun into the river.

Continue Gun Search

Police planned to continue their search of the river for the gun Thursday.

Before reaching the bridge, Shewcraft said, Bishop threw the gun's clip out of the car window and said "this guy shot this girl three times and he saw the last bullet go into her head."

Shewcraft said Bishop told him "this guy" was called "Dave" and had blond hair.

Investigators have determined that Miss Phillips, who majored in sociology, had been attempting to help Bishop in his rehabilitation efforts.

Police are seeking to determine if there is any connection between the latest murder and the previous slayings. They said they have definitely discounted any involvement by Bishop in two of the killings because he was serving time in Southern Michigan Prison for rape at the time.

Fonda Says He's 'Tired Old Man'

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Actor Henry Fonda has been admitted to a hospital for treatment of what a spokesman described as influenza.

Fonda has been in New Mexico for the shooting of the movie "There Was a Crooked Man."

Elephant Buried In His Backyard

ROCHESTER (AP) — It wasn't an elephant joke. Somebody buried a 600 - pound baby pachyderm in Henry Kochan's backyard.

"Nobody believed me," said Kochan, who lives in a sparsely settled area of a Detroit suburb.

I thought it was a joke myself.

"Even after I'd seen it, the next morning I had to go out again and look at it to make sure it was true," he said Tuesday night.

He later found out the young Indian elephant was dumped there Monday night by two men when Kochan's 15-year-old son, Joey, told them it was all right. "He thought he was doing somebody a good turn," Kochan said.

Kochan, who works for Ford Motor Co., really didn't mind, except the carcass was starting to smell.

An autopsy had been conducted by a veterinarian and "everything was falling out," as Kochan delicately put it.

The elephant, it turned out, was from the International Animal Exchange, Inc., of Ferndale, Mich. A company vice president, Dan Brennan, said the two men who dumped the elephant were supposed to bury it on some land the company owned out near Rochester.

"They got lost," he said, and when they asked the Kochan boy and he said it was all right to dump it, they went ahead. The intended site, some old farm land, is used to store crates and is not meant primarily as a burial ground.

Brennan said the elephant, about the size of a Shetland pony, had arrived last weekend and was already "noticeably sick." It died Sunday night, and the autopsy revealed it had a bacterial infection.

Two men retrieved the animal late Tuesday night, Brennan said. As for the odor problem, a bulldozer for burial along with quicklime would insure that neighbors wouldn't notice the area had been a temporary elephant burial ground.
